End of Year happenings

It's hard to believe we are over halfway through Term Four. A few end of year items to highlight:

- Student Progress reports will be distributed before the end of the term.
- Year 6 Graduation Dinner: This is a special occasion for our Year 6 graduates and will be held at the Bowl's Club on Wednesday December 3rd. Each Year 6 student may invite two special guests, and staff also attend.
- End of Year Graduation Service: This will be at the Lutheran Church at 7pm, Wednesday December 10th. It is expected that all students attend in their formal school uniform. The service is a special time for our school community to gather, farewell our Year 6 graduates, and awards and presentations also take place.

Farewell and God bless Mrs Launer and Giana

Next week we farewell Mrs Launer who commences her parenting leave. We are so blessed to have Mrs Launer serve our school, and wish her and Shannon God's richest blessings as they prepare for the arrival of their baby.

We also say thank you and farewell to Giana Pohlner. Giana has been completing a Structured Workplace Learning placement at WLC Nhill, helping as an aide each Thursday.

WLC Logo and colours

The new logo and colours for Wimmera Lutheran College have been released. Our students were pleased to see that Nhill were represented with maroon and blue. The new logo will appear more regularly, and will replace our existing logo on letterheads, signs etc.... With the logo and colours now chosen, attention turns to new uniform items which will be addressed in the near future. Our current Nhill Lutheran School uniform items may still be worn in 2026.

Remembrance Day

Our school held a special ceremony by the flag pole on Tuesday to honour Remembrance Day. We give thanks to the men and women who have served, or are serving, in our armed forces, and we pray for peace to end all war.

School Captain speeches

Next Wednesday, our Year 5 students will present their school captain speeches to the school. Students and staff will then vote for who they feel will be worthy student leaders for our school in 2026.

Kinder Visits

It has been a joy getting to know our incoming Foundation students during their Kinder Visits. They have their last visit next Friday. An information session for parents/caregivers of 2026 Foundation students will be held at the school on Monday November 24th at 3.45pm.

Focus Group Discussions

Thank you to parents who attended the recent focus group discussion with Phil McCredden from Ecclesia Leadership, and WLC Executive Principal Jason Przibilla. Phil is collating information from all three WLC campuses, which will guide strategic planning.

Every blessing,

Damon Prenzler

Devotional Thought

Steadfast feet on 'the Way'

My steps have held to your paths,
my feet have not slipped (Psalm 17:5).

Read Psalm 17:1-9

There are many great African spirituals that sing of steadfast feet on the path of Jesus: 'We are marching in the light of God; we are marching in the light of God ...' Or how about this one: 'It is a great thing to love Jesus, it is a great thing to love Jesus, it is a great thing to love Jesus, walking in the light of God. Walk, walk, walk, walk, walking in the light ...' If either of these songs gets stuck in your head this Saturday, praise the Lord!

In Psalm 119:105, we read, 'Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path.' Psalm 121, a pilgrimage song, contains the words, 'He will not let your foot slip – he who watches over you will not slumber ... The Lord will watch over your coming and going both now and forevermore.'

The first Christians were known as followers of 'the Way'. What a great joy it is for us, too, to be followers of the Way, the Truth and the Life (John 14:6). The Apostle Paul remarked:

Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved. How, then, can they call on the one they have not believed in? And how can they believe in the one of whom they have not heard? And how can they hear without someone preaching to them? And how can they preach unless they are sent? As it is written: 'How beautiful are the feet of those who bring good news!' (Romans 10:13-15)

Dear Lord, give me beautiful feet that bring the good news wherever I go. May the feet of God walk with me and his hand hold me tight wherever I go. Light of the World, illuminate your path before me so I do not stray to the right or to the left. Grant me steadfast feet on the Way. Amen.

Lions Peace Poster Awards

Congratulations to Zara on her achievement for the next level judging. Zara was awarded the Western zone winner at state judging. In coming weeks the Lions will return her poster and present a prize to her. Well done Zara!

WLC Nhill Commemorated Remembrance Day

Strategic Plan Update

Last week, Phil McCredden from Ecclesia Leadership conducted focus groups with the following key stakeholder groups:

- WLC Staff
- WLC Parents and Friends
- WLC Students

Across 2 days, Phil travelled between campuses, meeting with these key groups to hold discussions on the future of Wimmera Lutheran College. These discussions provided valuable insight into key considerations for the steering committee to ponder as planning for the future continues. Phil was impressed with the passion, dedication and pride that the different groups held for their respective school communities, and enjoyed the opportunity to find out more about the three campuses that make up Wimmera Lutheran College. The information collated from these focus groups, along with the Shared Futures survey will now be collated and presented to the WLC Steering Committee at a workshop scheduled for Tuesday 25 November.

WLC Logo

Last week, the new Wimmera Lutheran College logo was unveiled to all members of the WLC community. This logo was created by Mad Mouse Graphic Design who were given the following briefing by the Steering Committee:

- Modern and contemporary
- Features the Cross as a central element
- Is simple yet meaningful in design
- Represents "three becoming one," while acknowledging the balance between unity and diversity

I believe the designers have done an exceptional job in meeting this brief. Their description of the final design is as follows:

"A bold, geometric shield that reflects unity, protection, and forward-thinking strength. The cross and three stripes symbolise faith and the merging of three campuses into one. Clean lines and a confident colour palette make this concept distinctly modern, dynamic, and enduring — ideal for a contemporary educational brand."

The three chosen colours each have a connection to the original colours of our three campuses, working harmoniously together to represent our shared identity and collective Future.

WLC Branding

With the logo now decided upon, attention will turn to key branding priorities including;

- Website development
- Campus Signage
- Bus signage
- Uniform logos
- Business cards, letterheads and other important documents
- Stationery

I personally cannot wait to see our unifying logo across all facets of our 3 amazing campuses.

WLC Uniform

The following steps will be followed as we now prepare to review the WLC uniform:

- Step 1: Construct a survey
- Step 2: Survey stakeholders
- Step 3: Focus Groups utilised for 3 campuses
- Step 4: Discussions with Focus Groups
- Step 5: Executive Team to use collation of data to confirm uniform
- Step 6: Uniform Policy Review
- Step 7: Uniform implementation timeline confirmed and communicated to families
- Step 8: Uniform Shop decision

This exciting work will begin over the coming weeks and will be another important step towards bringing unity and celebrating diversity across the 3 campuses of WLC.

Independent Schools Victoria (ISV) Independent Report

Wimmera Lutheran College is classified as an Independent School In Victoria, an independent school is a non-government school that operates autonomously, meaning it has its own governance and management structure, unlike government schools. These schools are diverse and are accountable to their governing body while operating within state and federal legislation for areas like curriculum and finance. Recently, a new independent report commissioned by Independent Schools Victoria (ISV) revealed the significant economic and social contribution of Victoria's Independent schools.

The report showed that the sector contributes $6.6 billion to the state economy each year, driven by direct employment, infrastructure investment, international student activity and community programs. Victoria's Independent schools employ more than 26,000 full-time staff, three times the workforce of the entire AFL industry, and educate over 165,000 students, with enrolments growing at three times the rate of other sectors.

Independent schools also delivered substantial savings to the government, estimated at $3 billion annually, by educating students who would otherwise require places in government schools.

The report highlighted the sector's essential role in supporting students, families, local communities and the broader economy, while also drawing attention to the financial pressures created by payroll tax and rising costs.

This report provided impartial, evidence-based insight into the scale and significance of Victoria's Independent school sector. To find out more about the important role Independent Schools such as Wimmera Lutheran College play in the educational sector of Victoria, please view this short explanatory video through the provided link:

Students of the Week

Congratulations to the following students who were presented with Student of the Week awards at assembly this week:

Jessie: Demonstrating she can confidently work with her classmates, making thoughtful choices about tasks she will complete and extending herself to writing new words in sentences and reading aloud in class.

Jed: He applies critical thinking to his tasks and asks many questions to find as much as he can.

Connor: Has been highly focused on his learning and supporting others with their learning. He is respectful, responsible and helpful.

Freya: Displays imagination to her writing, artwork and play. She adds humour to her tasks.

Hailey: Showing great effort in your learning and making wonderful friends, for always having a bright cheerful smile everyday at school.

Lawson: For showing curiosity and creativity in your thinking. Your organisational skills have improved, along with showing initiative and being helpful.

Get 'Em Going Playgroup

Get 'Em Going Playgroup meet each Tuesday at 9.30am to 11am.

Each week children will be given the opportunity to participate in physical, social and mental stimulating activities to assist in preparing them for their learning journey ahead. Please bring along the following:

- A water bottle / Fruit snack / Gold coin donation

If you have any questions or would like more information on the program please contact Mrs Fisher at the front office. 53 912 144 or admin@nls.vic.edu.au

We've had a fun few weeks in Get 'em Going playgroup. Our theme has been 'Day 4' when God created the sun, moon and stars. Then this week we learnt about 'Day 5' when God created the fish and the birds.

For our music time the children have been exploring clapping sticks, tapping to the beat using different actions. We've also been enjoying a crayon song using colours and shapes. Then have lots of fun pretending to be a scarecrow!

We've continued to explore painting and using paper plates to create the scenes from creation we've been learning about. Using glitter, stickers and animal pictures.

Next week we are leaning about 'Day 6' when God created us!

When Kids Talk Back

Every parent knows that moment: the eye roll, the sigh, the sarcastic comment, or even outright refusal to do what you've asked. Whether your child is five or fifteen, backchat can leave you feeling frustrated, disrespected, and unsure of how to respond.

But what if I told you that backchat might actually be a sign of healthy development? An inconvenient and clumsy sign, perhaps. But a sign nonetheless. How so?

When children talk back, it often shows they feel safe enough to express disagreement with authority—including ours. This isn't rebellion for rebellion's sake; it's the stirring of critical thinking. They're developing their own sense of what's fair and reasonable, and they're brave enough to voice it, even when they know we might not like it.

The way we respond in those moments can either nurture their growing autonomy and problem-solving abilities... or teach them that challenging authority is dangerous and their perspectives don't matter.

Here's what parents need to know—and do—when kids backchat, from preschool through high school.

Why Kids Talk Back

Backchat is rarely out-and-out defiance. More often, it's a child's attempt to assert some control over their world when they feel powerless. When kids experience:

- Over-control (decisions imposed without their input)
- Overwhelm (expectations that feel impossible to meet)
- Disconnection (sensing their thoughts and feelings don't count)

...they're more likely to push back. And because they're still learning how to navigate complex social situations, it comes out in ways we don't like—as sass, sarcasm, or outright refusal.

What Parents Can Do

The goal isn't to silence your child's voice or demand unquestioning compliance, but to help them learn more effective ways to communicate their needs and concerns whilst maintaining connection. Here are three approaches:

1. Get Curious, Not Furious

Instead of meeting their attitude with your own authority ("Don't you dare talk to me like that!"), try genuine curiosity about their perspective.

Ask yourself: What's underneath this behaviour? What need are they trying to meet?

You might say, "It sounds like you're really frustrated about this. Help me understand what's bothering you."

This invites collaboration rather than demanding submission.

2. Acknowledge Their Reality—Even When You Can't Change Everything

You don't have to agree with your child to validate their experience. Sometimes just being heard defuses the tension.

"I can see why that feels unfair to you." or "You wish you had more say in what happens in your day, don't you?"

This shows you're genuinely interested in their inner world—not just their compliance—even if certain expectations still need to be met.

3. Invite Problem-Solving Together

Rather than simply laying down the law, try collaborative problem-solving:

- "This isn't working for either of us. What ideas do you have that might help?"
- "I need X to happen. You're telling me Y is important to you. How can we make this work for both of us?"

If emotions are running high, suggest a pause:

- "We're both pretty heated right now. Let's take a break and come back to this when we can really listen to each other."

The Bigger Picture

We can't eliminate backchat entirely—nor should we want to. Children who never question authority often struggle to think critically or advocate for themselves later in life.

What we can do is help our children learn that their voice matters, while also developing the social skills to express themselves effectively. When we respond to backchat with curiosity rather than control, we're teaching them that it's safe to disagree, that problems can be solved together, and that relationships can handle conflict.

Your kids are learning from you every day how to handle disagreement and navigate power dynamics. The question isn't whether they'll encounter conflict in life—they will. The question is whether they'll have learned to handle it with respect, creativity, and connection.

Quick Reminders for Parents:

- Stay curious—their "attitude" often masks a legitimate concern
- Remember, they're practicing important life skills (even when it's inconvenient)
- Look for ways to share power where possible
- Model the respectful communication you want to see
- Focus on connection and problem-solving, not winning

Pre-Foundation First Full Transition Day

The school was a buzz this morning when we had the 2026 Foundation students begin their very first full day at school. After having 2 previous Fridays only being at school for a few hours, they were all very excited to be staying for the whole day. The backpacks were on, they all gave a happy greeting as they made their way into their classroom. These transition days are so helpful in providing the new students with confidence that they know the location of the toilets, and playground, what all the bells mean, and learn that there are rules to be followed by every one.

School Stream App

All families, please be aware that you can instal the school stream app from your app store and search for Nhill Lutheran School.

This app provides you with another means of communication for signing permission slips, camp, absentees, bus travelling changes.

Just a reminder that there have been some changes with the school stream reporting app. to make it easier for parents/caregivers to use.

The regular used forms have been moved to their own folders, they are; Absence Reporting & Bus.

SRC Update

The SRC through their fundraising from dim sims sales, father & mother's day stalls and the zooper doopers sales, have purchased new Tonka trucks for the students to enjoy in the play ground. As the photo shows they have been well received and will provide many hours of creative play.

NEXT STEPS

Starting on 10 December 2025, Australia's minimum age for social media use will increase from 13 to 16. This change will affect all young people under 16 and the parents and schools who support them.

WHY ATTEND?

Join Cyber Safety Project for this 45-minute family event designed for parents and children under 16. Together, we'll unpack the facts, clear up common myths, and kick-start important conversations that really matter before the new laws take effect.

Here's what we'll chat about:

- Exactly what's changing and who it applies to.
- What will (and won't) be impacted by the new rules.
- How the law will be enforced and what that means day-to-day.
- How families can prepare together to stay informed and connected.
